This is the tutorial for this diary template. You must compile this file with xelatex twice. This file supports English, ภาษาไทย, and 汉字. You can edit fonts in thaitext.sty. The file setuptext.sty is for setting text spacing and page background. There are a few simple commands you can use to make note look nicer. You can check their definition from setcommand.sty.

\daynote

\daynote[note]{dd/mm/yyyy} is used before each day entry to type the date in old-style format and the day of the week. You can insert an optional command to note after the weekday.

2/3/2026

Monday

\monthnote

\monthnote{Month} is used to type the new month header. It is typed with note paper background in BOLD font. It should be used at the start of a page.

3/3/2026

Tuesday

\xdaynote

\xdaynote{text} is used after each day to note extra message. It is typed in flush right alignment with italicized font. It should be used in its own paragraph.

— You can use this template now!
